Land of the Churnet

With Eleanor, who will be leading this month's light painting workshop, we learned how to turn Pringles tubes into kaleidoscopes using mirror card, beads, sequins and double sided tape. (photos courtesy of Paul)

Christmas Party

We all had a really good time at the party: plenty of festive food; carols accompanied by guitar, violin, shakers and tambourines; and a chance to chat to lots of people.

JANUARY PROGRAMME DETAILS

The Creative Writing sessions continue on Tuesday mornings. This is a very supportive group which welcomes anyone interested in words.

On Tuesday afternoons the Visual Arts workshop provides a wealth of materials for creative expression. On 6th and 13th January Viv will be there to guide and support all participants.

Eleanor (who ran the Kaleidoscope workshop in Dec) returns to lead Light Painting. It's a fascinating process involving cameras, darkened rooms and a selection of light sources – just right for the dark days of winter. But you don't need to know anything about photography. So come along and have-a-go.

The informal Thursday morning Experimental Arts - DIY group meet to help one another and explore different drawing and painting techniques. All welcome. Please note slight change in timing.

It is Elspeth's final Churnet People collage session this month. New people are welcome. Contact Sheena for details.

Following the success of Digital photo editing we hope to have more IT workshops starting soon – probably in February. If you are interested please contact Sheena to discuss your preferences. Ideas so far include powerpoint and desktop publishing.

COMING EVENTS

When Eleanor ran Light Painting with a group of teenagers the results were stunning; come along and try your hand on the 20th.
